

Police Comb City For Car in Check On Harris' Death

West Stockbridge Resident, 63, Had Come Here to Attend Brother's Funeral—Possible Hit-Run Victim

Found Last Night

Man Found on Foxhall Avenue Near Shufeldt—Verdict Is Withheld

An intensified police investigation was under way today to learn the identity of the driver of a car which it is believed, might have been the direct cause of death of an aged man who was found fatally injured on Foxhall avenue about 10:30 o'clock last night.

The dead man, Joseph Harris, 63, of West Stockbridge, Mass., was a visitor to the city and had come here several days ago to attend the funeral of his brother, Alphonse Harris, of 87 Foxhall avenue, who died last Tuesday.

Man Is Run Over
A police investigation showed that the aged man had been run over and a torn spot on his overcoat indicated he might have been hit by a car before the machine ran over him.

An autopsy performed by Drs. J. Spottiswood Taylor and Chester B. Van Gaasbeek showed that the man's back was broken and he had several broken ribs.

District Attorney Cleon B. Murray and Coroner Howard E. Humiston were notified, but the official verdict of the latter is being withheld pending discoveries of the police in their investigation.

Body on Foxhall Avenue

The body of Harris was found lying in the street on Foxhall avenue near the intersection of Grand and Shufeldt streets by John Benkert of Stone Ridge, who is staying at 84 Prince street and James Connelly of Summer street. They noticed the local police who in turn immediately sent out an alarm in an attempt to apprehend the driver of the car involved in the accident.

The sheriff's office, state police and the Saugerties police were notified and all joined in the investigation at once.

Tell of Passing Cars

According to the local police the two men who reported finding the body of Harris lying in the road, said they had observed two machines pass the spot where the man had been found just before they came upon the scene.

One car they said, went directly ahead, but the second they said, swerved out of its direct path as though attempting to miss something in the road.

Two radio cars brought Officers Lemuel Howard, William Reardon, Peter Keresman and Urban Healey to the scene within a few minutes after the accident was reported at police headquarters.

Ambulance Called
The W. N. Conner ambulance was called and the man was rushed to the Kingston Hospital, but shortly after his arrival there he was dead, and it was indicated that he had died sometime before his arrival at the hospital.

It was not determined immediately after the accident whether or not the man had been run over while lying in the road or whether he was struck while attempting to cross the street.

Struck While Standing
Coroner Humiston indicated today, however, that the nature of the man's injuries and markings on his clothing seemed to indicate that he was struck while standing.

The hospital the body was identified by Vincent Harris, of 87 Foxhall avenue, a nephew of the Massachusetts man.

Police working on flimsy clues have advanced the theory that the aged man might have been hit by one of the cars which was observed passing the scene just before the body was found. A search was made for other possible witnesses to the accident, but none were reported found.

The car in which Connelly and Benkert were riding when they first saw the man lying in the road was headed southward on Foxhall avenue. No other cars, according to police report, were parked near the spot at the time, and insofar as they have been able to learn no pedestrians saw the accident.

Funeral arrangements for the aged man were not completed today. He is survived by a wife and two sisters, Miss Hanna Harris and Mrs. John Steltz.

M-G-M to Advertise
New York, March 20 (AP)—Metro-Goldwyn Mayer is appropriating $2,500,000 for advertising its motion pictures, the largest appropriation in its history, Howard Dietz, director of publicity, announced today. Newspapers will receive greater emphasis in M-G-M advertising than last year, said Dietz, adding the money would be spent in every sizable city in the United States.

Air Victim

Julius Barr (above), formerly the personal pilot for Madame Chiang Kai-Shek in China, died in the wreck of the $500,000 "Stratoliner" near Alder, Wash. He was at the controls of the plane when it fell.

Aviation Experts Seek Reason for Stratoliner Crash

Federal and Boeing Officials Poke Through Wreckage of $500,000 Plane; No One Offers Any Opinion

Alder, Wash., March 20 (AP)—Aviation experts came to this mountain village today to seek an explanation for the crash of the new four-motored Boeing stratoliner which carried its 10 occupants to death in a spectacular 10,000-foot plunge Saturday.

Victims of the crash included A. G. von Baumhauer, aeronautics engineer for the Netherlands government; Peter Guilford, assistant manager of the Royal Dutch Air Lines; and several prominent American airmen.

Presence of von Baumhauer and Guilford in Seattle had not been generally known. Von Baumhauer was a member of the Dutch Air Mission to the United States. Guilford came on private business.

Federal and Boeing officials studied the twisted wreckage of the $500,000 ship to determine whether a structural fault was responsible. Thomas Hardin, of Washington, D. C., vice chairman of the air safety board of the civil aeronautics authority, directed the federal investigation, while R. J. Minshall, vice president and assistant general manager of the Boeing Aircraft Company, headed the builder's examination.

No Opinions Offered
Neither would offer an opinion as to the cause of the accident, which stripped the Boeing Company of its key men, including Test Pilot Earl Ferguson, 31, Julius Barr and William Doyle, 41, of Seattle.

Other victims were Harlan Hull, 32, Kansas City, Mo., chief test pilot for the Transcontinental and Western Airlines; John Kystira, Seattle, Boeing chief engineer; Ralph L. Cram, 33, Seattle, Boeing aerodynamics expert; Benjamin Pearson, 32, Seattle, assistant Boeing sales manager; and Harry T. West, Jr., 36, Seattle, Boeing foreman.

The stratoliner, designed to carry 33 passengers and a crew of five on high altitude flights, had been undergoing tests preparatory to federal license. It took off from Seattle at 12:55 p. m. Thirty-five minutes later it was wreckage on the ground.

Civil Liberties Committee Recommends Measures to Prevent Use of Machine Guns and Gas in Industrial Disputes—Says Republic Steel Corp. Is Biggest Purchaser

Washington, March 20 (AP)—The Senate civil liberties committee said today "the purchasing and storing of arsenals of firearms and tear and sickening gas weapons is a common practice by large employers who refuse to bargain collectively with legitimate labor unions."

Mrs. McMahon Says Project Affairs Are No Public Concern

Federal Art Project Official Conducts Woodstock Talk, Says No Complaints Have Been Received So Far

Woodstock, March 20—Mrs. Audrey McMahon, assistant to the director of the Federal Art Project, New York city, Saturday at a meeting in this village minimized alleged public indignation against the conduct of the project.

Mrs. McMahon reported that personally she had received no complaints from taxpayers or residents of Ulster county, but added that she would be glad to return to Woodstock to discuss complaints that might be presented by individuals or groups of citizens.

In her own words, Mrs. McMahon was "not conducting an investigation," because, as yet, she has not been confronted directly with any of the public accusations. While here Saturday, Mrs. McMahon contacted each project artist in a private talk, then spoke to them as a group before welcoming the press.

Union Criticism
Chief complaint at the meeting was a blast of criticism from all sides directed at the conduct of the Ulster County Artists' Union. Mrs. McMahon did not discuss the matter and remarked that the reported political and un-American activities of the project workers and their organizations are not the concern of local taxpayers.

This project, she insisted, is supported solely by federal funds.

Open to All
An important criticism of the union brought out at Saturday's meeting was that its constitution permits non-residents, non-project workers, and non-citizens to govern the policy of the union in regard to project affairs. The constitution states there "is no time limit of residence as restriction for membership." Also in section 5, "No applicant shall be deferred from membership in this organization because of race, color, creed, or citizenship."

War Protests
Edgar Melville Ward of Kingston, one of the project artists, and formerly a Union member, spoke during the press conference, giving his reasons for resigning from the union. He said that at the meeting in which the union voted to affiliate with the League for Peace and Democracy, a suspect Communist organization, he remonstrated but did not resign until the union members began to deny having joined with the league, then later admitted it. Moreover, he objected to belonging to a group so severely criticized by prominent Kingston citizens. He also felt justified in resenting accusations from the union that he had betrayed their secrets to local papers.

The union made no statement in its own defense, but handed Mrs. McMahon a typewritten statement which she declined to use at the meeting.

Other citizen objections brought out were dismissed by Mrs. McMahon until such time as she may be recalled by interested taxpayers or residents.

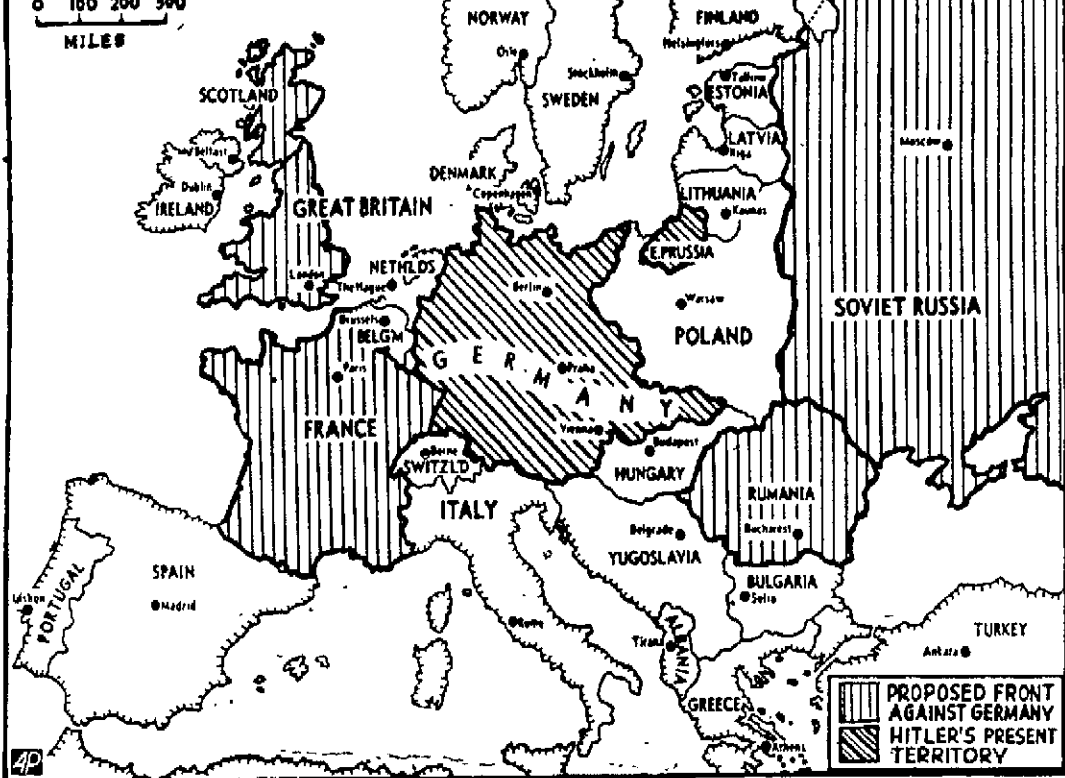

Treasury Receipts
Washington, March 20 (AP)—The position of the Treasury on March 17: Receipts, $383,212,407.05; expenditures, $453,379,672.05; net balance, $33,833,844,777.34, including $2,724,509.66 working balance; customs receipts for the month, $16,347,489.56; Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $4,139,449,659.19; expenditures, $6,464,487,971.15, including $2,195,068,999.88 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $2,325,038,311.96; gross debt, $39,948,995,124.40, an increase of $12,389,443.75 above the previous day; gold assets, $15,007,517,132.83.

Lehman Acknowledges
Albany, N. Y., March 20 (AP)—Governor Lehman acknowledged receipt of the New York city affairs committee demand for a legislative investigation of the Brooklyn Judiciary but declined comment. Legislators, however, including Senate Majority Leader Joe R. Harley and Senator Benjamin Feinberg, judiciary committee chairman, asserted they received no official word of the proposed inquiry.

None Hurt in Crash
Occupants of a car and truck which collided on the Boulevard about 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning near the intersection of the road leading to the Tuberculosis Hospital, escaped uninjured. The truck owned by Alfred Jones, was driven by Milton Cohen of 11 Lucas avenue. The other machine was driven by Lewis DePuy of Rosendale.

'Stop Hitler' Movement Gains

This map shows the four major forces (vertical shading) which would figure in the proposed movement to block further German territorial expansion in Europe. Britain and France turned to Soviet Russia in an effort to check a reported economic move toward Rumania by Germany. A French-British plan also was reported to envisage a front which would base its eastern European defenses on the Balkan entente of Rumania, Greece, Yugoslavia and Turkey, as well as Poland.

Douglas Is Nominated To U.S. Supreme Court

Roosevelt's Choice to Succeed Justice Louis D. Brandeis Now Is Chairman of Securities Commission; Douglas Was Born in Minnesota; Former Yale Professor

Washington, March 20 (AP)—William O. Douglas, 40-year-old chairman of the securities commission, was nominated by President Roosevelt today to be an associate justice of the Supreme court.

If the nomination is confirmed by the senate, Douglas will succeed the veteran Justice Louis D. Brandeis, who retired February 13 after 23 years on the high tribunal.

From Connecticut
Although there had been a widespread demand for appointment of a westerner to fill the court vacancy, Douglas, a former Yale law professor, was appointed from Connecticut.

However, Douglas was born in Minnesota and received his early schooling in Washington State. Douglas is known as a consistent New Deal supporter.

Recently, he denounced as a "phony" a proposal from the stock exchanges to change trading rules.

This was President Roosevelt's fourth appointment in less than two years to the nine-man court. There was no vacancy during his first term.

Colonials, Reds May Return Here In Playoff Game

Sedran Tells Haver He'll Do His Best to Have Contest Here Wednesday Even at Monetary Sacrifice

Because they want to give Kingston basketball fans all the consideration they deserve for supporting the Colonials during the past season, Barney Sedran and the local committee are busy on plans to bring that third game of the playoff to the auditorium, Wednesday.

Attorney N. Levan Haver announced today the movement to make the Reds return here at noon today after a "phone conversation with Manager Sedran. Sedran's comment was, "Even though the flip of a coin designated Union City for the third game, I think it belongs to Kingston and I'm going to make every effort to have it played at the auditorium."

Moving the game into the Broadway hall will cost Sedran money, but he says he's willing to sacrifice part of his cut in order to guarantee the Reds what they demand to play in Kingston. Attorney Haver said, "The Colonial and Jersey team bosses are only $200 apart and it looks as though the difference can be made up, so Kingston fans may see the clubs in action once more."

Garner Outlines Personal Views On Policy of Rule

Vice President Cites Statement Made in 1932 in Response to Inquiries About His Idea of Government

Washington, March 20 (AP)—Vice President Garner, it was learned today, is answering inquiries about his stand on governmental policies by citing a statement of views he made in 1932. He says he now holds the same opinions.

"There are just two things to this government as I see it," the letter said. "The first is to safeguard the lives and properties of our people; the second is to insure that each of us has a chance to work out his destiny according to his talents."

"This involves protecting him from being injured or oppressed by those of superior acquisitiveness, and perhaps less conscience, who seek to strain the rules to their own advantage."

"In my opinion, nearly all of our civic troubles are the consequence of government's departure from its legitimate functions. Our increased population and new conditions arising from new inventions often make it necessary to change the rules in order to keep the balance between the people and those who would exploit them."

"Unfortunately, these changes and adjustments result too often in enhancing, instead of diminishing the evils."

Garner, who a group of Texas friends has advanced for the 1940 presidential nomination, said in 1932:

"Had it not been for the steady encroachment of Federal government on the rights and duties reserved for the states we perhaps would not have the present spectacle of the people rushing to Washington to set right whatever goes wrong. x x x

"The gravitation of power to Washington has built a structure of administration vast beyond the imagination of the builders of the constitution."

James Logan of Hyde Park, vice-president, were present at the session Saturday and spoke of the aims and ambitions of the association and told workers what they expected could be accomplished by the organization.

Among the benefits which the association hopes to bring about is better and more steady employment of the members.

John W. DuBois of Kingston, who arranged for the meeting Saturday, has been named to the executive committee. A meeting will be called in Hudson shortly for presenting the plans to representatives from up-state counties.

Chamberlain Says Britain Is Ready to Review Defense Program, Will Try to Rally Bloc

Memel's Stand

U. S. Minister Carr Instructed to Return; Memel Landtag March 25

(By The Associated Press)
Britain, her hopes of European conciliation lost, turned today to her power and prestige in an attempt to erect a barrier in the path of Adolf Hitler as Germany appeared on the threshold of new expansion.

Britain took these steps: Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons Britain would again review her colossal defense program as part of her answer to Germany's eastward drive.

The cabinet in an extraordinary session decided to communicate with Soviet Russia, Poland, Bulgaria and the Balkan Entente states—Greece, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Turkey—in an attempt to rally "anti-aggressor" nations into a "stop Hitler" bloc.

Oliver Stanley, president of the board of trade, announced a decision to send a trade mission to Rumania to counter German economic pressure in Bucharest.

U. S. Closes Legation
The United States closed its legation in Prague today and ordered its ministers to Czechoslovakia to return to their country.

The minister, Wilbur J. Carr, was instructed to turn the legation over to American consular officials in Prague, capital of the latest country absorbed by Germany's "march to the east."

The order went from Washington in the midst of a renewal of congressional debate over American foreign policy.

The state department also released a telegram from Carr, dated March 17, which said:

"There are no officials of the Czechoslovak government to which I am accredited with whom I can maintain relations for the protection of the interests of the United States and its citizens."

In the house, Representative Thill (R-Wis.) declared he never would vote to "embroider the United States in the coming European war."

"Hitler's seven league boots will lead to another European conflagration," Thill said, asserting America must make up her mind "whether she will stay neutral or not."

Agreement on Memel
Germany and Lithuania were reported today to have come to an understanding on Germany's possible annexation of Memel.

The outcome of conversations between Juozas Urbys, Lithuanian foreign minister, and Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, was described as:

Germany will receive Memel with open arms if and when Memellanders make known their desire to get "home into the Reich."

Lithuania will consider herself rid of unnecessary ballast.

The ostensible cause for Memel's reunion with Germany, however, will be Memel itself—not Germany or Lithuania.

The Memel Landtag, meeting March 25, is expected to raise the cry of self-determination with a demand to "get home to the Reich."

Then Hitler's marching columns would enter Memel as liberators.

Soviet Is Approached
Britain sounded out Soviet Russia on the possibility of her cooperation with Britain, France, Poland, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey to stop Adolf Hitler, "augmented of Germany."

United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy conferred with Viscount Halifax, British foreign secretary, and an informed source said they discussed close diplomatic collaboration.

The meeting was part of a round of diplomatic and ministerial meetings by high British cabinet members before a statement by Prime Minister Chamberlain to the House of Commons and by Lord Halifax to the House of Lords.

MotORIZED German troops, meanwhile, struggled through snow-drifts in Slovakia toward Carpatho-Ukraine, now a narrow Hungarian-held strip separating them from Rumania.

One cause for European apprehension was that the lightning might strike next in Rumania, whose rich oil wells and fertile wheatfields are in the path of the Nazi "Drang Nach Osten"—march to the east.

Rumania put more than 500,000 men on her frontiers and stood firm against surrender of any political rights to Germany although she appeared ready to make economic concessions.

Hungarian troops were massed.

Financial and Commercial

Stock Averages
Down Last Week

With transactions on the New York Stock Exchange at the unusual volume of 1,007,240 for short week-end session Saturday, stocks continued the movement that had marked them during the entire past week with the exception of one day and again registered losses. Industrials dropped a further 2.21 points Saturday, to 141.68 in the Dow-Jones averages. Rails were off 0.61 point for the day, to 29.58 and utilities declined 0.43 point, to 23.92.

For the week as a whole industrial averages showed a loss of over $10 a share from the closing prices on March 11, and rails and utilities were down proportionally. The result was a cancellation of the gain that had been made since the latter part of February.

A feature of the situation was that the latest move by Germany's dictators, which once more threw world markets into disorder and once more checked plans of those who have been planning to steer business into an upward channel, had a different effect on the New York market than on the London market. In London prices were marked down but there was no great pressure to sell; in New York, on the other hand, there was evidence of liquidating pressure.

Referring to the situation as a whole one prominent commentator has the following:

"For immediately practical reasons the Reich's latest absorption of territories reopens the era of incalculables in international trade which previously was supposed to be drawing to a close. It extends the restrictions of the German blocked currency system and bilateral trade principles over the external commerce of a larger section of industrial Europe, with which we have had a fairly important exchange of products. Initially, though perhaps not for the longer run, it serves to render that system more serviceable to Germany and presumably will assist her efforts to extend her trade empire at the expense of exporting nations like ourselves, to whom the barter-like scheme of bilateral trade balance is unacceptable."

Business statistics, which cover mostly the week before the latest crisis in Europe, showed automobile production in this country up 50 per cent above last year's period. Scheduled steel output was up a little and building operations were gaining slowly. Slack buying of cotton textiles the past week brought renewed talk of mill curtailment although up to now the mills have continued their active pace, filling orders previously received. In loadings merchandise and miscellaneous traffic held up fairly well, but coal movement was not encouraging. There were indications in some places of a contra-seasonal shrinkage in trade.

Some latest earnings reports for 1938 include: General Motors, net of $102,190,007, or $2.17 a share compared with net of $198,436,588, or $4.38 a share in 1937; the rate of net profit to sales rose up sharply in the final quarter of 1938, due to increased efficiency and lower material costs. General Foods reported net in 1938 of $13,577,075, or $2.50 a share, net of $9,208,295, or $1.75 a share in 1937. United Gas's net of $5,390,713, or $2.55 an second preferred, compared with net of $11,305,473, or 25 cents on common in preceding year. Skelly Oil net of $2,650,054, or $2.27 a share vs. $6,138,316, or $6.06 a share. Lohigh Valley Coal had net loss of $1,453,635, vs. net loss in 1937 of $1,092,518.

Fire at Fischer's

A fire apparently caused by a spark from a chimney shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Fischer's Hotel on Abel street, was extinguished by local firemen before serious damage resulted. The fire burned a hole in the roof and damaged part of the cornice. It was checked by chemicals. Firemen were called by still alarm.

Life in London
Is So DifferentVisitors From America Are Amazed at What They Have to Learn.

LONDON.—An American listens, looks and learns in London town.

Grapes are $1.25 a bush and under-sized oysters $1 to $2 a dozen according to distinction of the place you eat them and avocados are the rarest of luxuries. You can get milk, cream and butter only at a dairy store. Pork, beef, chicken and fish all are sold at separate stores and if you go to a provision house they are all grouped at separate bazaars.

The impressive London "hobbies" are hopeless in directing you to any given address, even if it's just around the corner. The taxi drivers never have any change. The big cumbersome double-deck buses keep traffic in a constant snarl. Sometimes as many as half a dozen in a row keep the traffic line frozen.

All traffic is left-hand drive, and any American who wants to get back home safely must remind himself to "look left, look right" every time he crosses the street. The taxi park in the center of the street, Regent street and Fleet street at the height of traffic hours make Fifth avenue and Times square look like race tracks by comparison.

Drinking Hours Restricted.

Saloons, "pubs," close from 3 to 5:30 in the afternoon and at 11 at night. A drink of scotch is a pony. You have to order a double scotch to get the equivalent of a full sized American drink. Whisky is just as expensive here and is less potent. By law all whisky is 70 proof as compared to 86 proof in America. A double scotch costs a shilling and 6 or 8 pence (35 to 45 cents).

When you order a mutton cutlet with tomato sauce you get a plain mutton chop and a bottle of catchup. Chili sauce seems to go under the name of tomato chutney. If you order English muffins you get crumpets. You never get a glass of water in a cafe unless you ask for it.

All night clubs close at midnight unless they have extension night (once a week) which grants them a license to remain open until 2 a. m. and dispense alcoholic beverages.

When you want a shave or a haircut you go to a hairdresser but you can't get a shine there. In fact you can't get a shine any place in London except by putting your boots outside your door the night before and the hair porter gives them a once-over lightly.

One Store Has Everything.

There's one department store where you can do your banking, order your theater tickets, take a nap, be completely outfitted for any climate under the moon or sun, make a will, have your blood pressure taken, or name it yourself. But outside the department stores, tobacco can be purchased only in tobacco stores, shoes in shoe stores, hats in hat shops, etc. American cigarettes cost 1 shilling 6 pence (about 35 cents) and are longer and thinner than the home variety. The tobacco also is cured in the English manner.

You can ride a bus a reasonable distance for 2 pence (4 cents), and make a telephone call for the same sum. But making a telephone call is an education, with a system of punching button "a" and button "b" and a series of buzzing noises only the natives ever fully understand.

The subway is called the underground and the fares range from 2 pence up according to the distance. But before you can ride the underground you have to go through a preliminary period of training providing you wish to arrive at your destination.

Fliers Report Island

As Primitive Paradise

SINGAPORE.—Amazing tales of a primitive paradise in the Indian ocean were told by a party of Royal Air Force officers and men who have returned to Singapore from the Nicobar islands.

They were sent there to repair one of the Short Sunderland flying boats which was damaged in a forced landing at Nancony island. As the only white men on the island, they were the guests of the matriarchal monarch, Queen Isilon, who entertained them with war dances and a royal regatta in which native canoes took part.

Endless are the yarns about subs that dove well but not wisely and got stuck in the mud. The famous old Tarpon made at least one such descent. She went down off Block island, not far from the place the S-4 was lost, and bottomed purposefully. When the crew tried to pull her loose neither her tanks nor engines could budge her.

A mud bottom exerts a tremendous suction. The Tarpon was not equipped with the air-cleaning chemicals carried on modern subs, and after a while the atmosphere grew heavy and foul and the men became drowsy. With touching confidence in their skipper they rolled into their bunks one by one and went to sleep, leaving the worried commander alone in the control room. Luckily an early-morning shift in tides broke the suction and the boat, already lightened to maximum buoyancy, bolted to the surface like a cork. The slumberers were tossed rudely from bunks and forthwith began to grumble about the rough ascent.

Nazi Literature in Mexico

Mexico City, March 20 (AP).—German Minister Baron H. Rüdiger von Colenberg delivered today 1,500 volumes of Nazi literature and German scientific and cultural works to the Congress Library. The books included Adolf Hitler's Mein Kampf and were donated by the Reichstag.

Steuding Reports
Spring Cleaning

Kingston will be fully prepared after today to launch its spring street cleaning program, it was announced this morning by Street Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding. A sustained spell of clear dry weather will be necessary, however, Mr. Steuding pointed out, before the streets can be effectively cleaned.

Two new patrol sweepers have arrived and were due to be unloaded this afternoon for immediate use. These will be used along with the older type of sweeper now owned by the Board of Public Works, and the newer type which was purchased by the department some time ago.

Tons of sand which was spread by workmen of the public works department during the winter months to prevent skidding will be swept from the streets which still show the effects of the sanding and other general cleaning of the streets will soon be underway.

It was planned also to start the repairing of pavement which has been affected by the winter frost, last Monday, but the heavy snow storm which came over the weekend prevented starting of that work. The street repaving program, however, is expected to begin also as soon as the weather permits.

Two new kettles for the heating of asphalt for the street-patching program, have been purchased and the material is at hand for starting this part of the spring program. Temporary repairs of cinders, clay and crushed stone have already been made and this material was used to fill some of the holes until warmer weather makes more permanent improvement possible.

WPA May Drop 400,000 April Unless Cash Comes

Washington, March 20 (AP).—The WPA informed its state administrators today that they would have to throw 400,000 persons off work relief during the week beginning April 3 unless Congress appropriated additional funds before then.

Col. F. C. Harrington, the WPA administrator, made public a state-by-state list of the reductions he said would have to be made in the rolls if Congress failed to act.

The list was issued while President Roosevelt was trying to obtain from Congress an additional appropriation of $150,000,000 to carry on work relief to July 1. His request for this sum was refused earlier this session.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 20, 1939.

SPREADING CIVILIZATION

The expansion of dictatorship countries nowadays is interesting and rather uniform in its technique. Hitler, resuming the march that began with the seizure of the Sudetenland, continues his rescue work in a spirit of benevolent assimilation. The language of his proclamation explaining the annexation of Czechoslovakia is interesting.

He finds that country in a reign of terror, and is impelled by humanitarian motives to move to the rescue not only of oppressed Germans, but of the Slovaks and Czechs themselves. The troops he sends into Bohemia and Moravia—ancient homes of the authentic Czechs—are intended to "disarm" terrorist bands and Czech forces protecting them, and thereby guarantee a basis for introduction of fundamental regulation which will do justice to the thousand-year-old history and practical necessity of the German and Czech people.

He also refers, very curiously, to this region as "a territory which belonged to the German Reich for more than a thousand years." If that is true, the usually accepted histories and geographies must be all wrong. The similarity of this conquest with the Japanese pattern in China is rather obvious. The Japanese militarists and German Nazis might change places and proceed as usual.

METROPOLITAN COURTESY

From an argument going on in the columns of the New York Times, it appears that the metropolis is not so "high hat" or "snooty" as it is generally supposed to be. The acid test seems to be, whether New Yorkers will answer civil questions civilly and help lost strangers in finding their way around. In this respect, it appears in testimony from both residents and outsiders that the former are almost as courteous and helpful to visitors as the average small-town people.

"I have lived in New York for about twelve years," testifies a woman resident, "and even now I find occasion to ask directions to certain places. I can truly say that I have never yet seen a man, woman or child assume an air of nonchalance and hurry by, as a critic says they do. Of course, in a crowded subway one does not expect to be treated as in a drawing room; but even there I have found rudeness of any kind very seldom."

It's probably true that New Yorkers, in spite of their satisfaction with themselves, are almost human. Too often, though, according to a friend who spends quite a bit of time there, they don't seem to know much about their city, and in emergency have to ask some visiting "hick" in order to find their way around.

BRIGHT KIDS

There is a rather common impression that children who start out as prodigies don't amount to much. A study made in California indicates that this is a very mistaken notion. Boys and girls who are bright in school usually continue so and hold their advantage over the mediocre.

Dr. Lewis M. Terman, psychologist in Leland Stanford University, followed up the careers of most of a group of 1,400 children picked in 1922 as the brightest among 250,000 California youngsters. A recent check-up shows that they are succeeding in life in far greater proportion than their less-brilliant school friends.

Half of the boys are now in the professions and one-fourth in semi-professional work or business. The remaining fourth cover a good deal of occupational territory. They are artists, radio announcers, ghost writers, jazz-band players, movie technicians, salesmen, stamp dealers, and so on, with one policeman and a fox farmer. And here is, to most people perhaps, the most telling point in the whole report: Not one of these gifted youngsters has been on relief rolls.

The conclusion seems to be that both brains and education pay. Education is good for anybody, but it's a great waste especially for the bright child not to have it.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC

Edward Johnson, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Association, believes that music should be on a par with the three R's in school programs. The study of music, he says, is "the best channel for developing qualities which make people better and happier citizens. Through study of music, children acquire memory, perseverance, self-control, qualities which make for good character."

Music does not yet hold such a place in all our schools, but it has made tremendous advances in a generation and is a recognized credit subject in many places. Public school singing and orchestra playing are common in big city systems and are even developing in small communities. Youngsters learn sight reading and are encouraged to learn to play some musical instrument.

Along with all this practical music study goes the development of appreciation. School children participate in music memory contests for which they study the musical classics. They learn composers' names and nationalities, the period in which the music was written, and are so at home with the music itself that they can identify a number upon hearing only a few bars played from any part of it. An adult who lacked this training in childhood is often surprised to hear small boys whistling bits from such music. It is plain that music, in our schools, is very nearly on the basis which Johnson recommends.

America has gone skating-crazy. First we go on a financial skate, then a political skate, then an ideological skate, and then we take to the ice.

Anyway, there's relief among the Atlantic democracies that the Nazi juggernaut has started rolling east instead of west.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.
ITCHING OF SKIN

Pruritis and is the itching of the skin around the opening from which wastes are thrown out by lower bowel. While it is not painful or dangerous to life it may greatly interfere with health because it causes broken sleep at night and constant annoyance during the day. The cause may be due to some local condition such as pin worms, hemorrhoids (piles), diarrhoea, gas formation in bowel, tiny ulcers, or it may be due to some disturbance elsewhere in the body—constipation, sluggish liver, diabetes.

When no general or local cause can be found, physicians advise a general toning up of the system by outdoor exercise and cutting down on rich gravies, sauces, pastries, sweets and alcoholics. Preventing constipation by the use of more fruits is important.

The number of remedies to relieve this itching must run into the hundreds including ointments and lotions containing sulphur, mercury, aconite, carbolic acid and cocaine.

When all general or local methods of treatment fail, operation often becomes necessary as the terrible itching causes the patient to scratch the parts which often sets up a severe infection. The operation consists of deepening the nerves of the skin surrounding the opening for a distance of one and one-half inches.

Sometimes the injection of a little sterile water under the skin will relieve the itching for many months.

Another method for relieving the intense itching was recently recorded in Archives of Dermatology and Syphilology. Dr. E. Hollander, New York, tattooed the skin around the opening with mercuric sulphide of fifteen patients for severe chronic anal pruritis. "This resulted in the relief of the itching and the skin returned to its normal texture. Two patients have remained well for more than one year, three for more than six months, and ten for less than six months." These were all cases where there was no local or general cause found for the itching. These cases had all been suffering for from two to seventeen years before this tattoo method of treatment was given.

I am mentioning these three methods of treatment—operation, injection of sterile water, and tattooing with mercuric sulphide—because many sufferers have about given up hope of ever obtaining relief from this intense itching.

Health Booklets

Nine helpful health booklets by Dr. Barton are now available. They may be obtained by sending ten cents for each one desired to The Bell Library, 247 West 43rd street, New York, N. ## More Prizes for Mrs. Miller

Sophie Ginzburg Miller of 93 Broadway, instructor of the Art Sketch Class has just received prizes for three successive Sundays besides an award in January for her sketches in a contest sponsored by a New York newspaper.

At this time also, one of Mrs. Miller's articles on music, "Twelve Stepping Stones to Singing" appears in this March issue of "The Etude Music Magazine," in which periodical her article, "He Never Took Lessons" appeared last April.

HOME BUREAU

Modena Unit
Two projects were discussed Wednesday, at an all-day meeting of the Modena Home Bureau unit, in the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall. In the morning, Mrs. Myron Coons gave a clever demonstration of material and construction of foundation garments, also the approved laundering and care of such. Determining the fiber contents of the material in garments proved an interesting feature of the demonstration, cotton, pure dye silk, weighted silk, and synthetics (degenerated cellulose, rayon, viscose rayon and Bemberg) being used. Mrs. Coons supervised the laundering of a number of garments, giving detailed information which was minutely followed. Mrs. Coons also explained the various methods which were used in the manufacture of soap products, recommended in the washing of garments. Following the pot-luck luncheon, at noon, a brief business session was conducted by the chairman, Mrs. Winfield Jenkins, and dates set for future meetings. Wednesday, March 29, a meeting will be held in Clintonville, at Mrs. Ralph Van Sien's, unless changed. April 5, the unit will meet with Mrs. Frank Black. Monday evening, March 20, a card party will be held at Mrs. Myron Coons', Plattekill. Mrs. Eber Palmer, of Ardonia, has donated a hand-pieced quilt top to the unit, the article to be sold and the proceeds used to increase the treasury of the local unit. During the afternoon session of the meeting Mrs. Lester Arnold led the discussion on the "Understanding Others" project. Leaflets for a record of achievements were distributed, to be filled out and returned to the State College of Economics at Cornell University. Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Winfield Jenkins, Mrs. Harry Sutton, Clintonville; Mrs. Gershon Mount, Mrs. Ira Hyatt, Ardonia; Mrs. Orville Seymour, Mrs. Glennie Wager, Seymour; Mrs. Lester Arnold, Mrs. Joseph Hasbrouck, Modena; Mrs. Myron Coons, Mrs. Albert Butler and daughter, Gertrude of Plattekill.

MODENA

Modena, March 18.—The Modena troop of Boy Scouts will hold a card party Friday evening, March 24, at the home of Paul Arnold, scout member. Refreshments will be served. Proceeds from the party will benefit the local troop of Boy Scouts.

Mrs. Joseph Hasbrouck attended the Wednesday Club at New Paltz Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Black has returned from a visit with relatives in New Jersey.

Leonard Coy, Sr., is ill at his home here.

Albert Reynolds has employment with George Albeusen in Ardonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Black and family entertained guests from New Jersey at their home recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Coy of Clintonville, former residents of this village, are the parents of a young daughter born Sunday, March 12.

Joseph O. Hasbrouck of New York spent the past week-end at his home here.

George Sisti, Plattekill, was a business caller here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Shults were in Kingston Wednesday.

Today in Washington

Second Peace Conference Needed to Undo the Wrongs Imposed by the Versailles Treaty

By DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1939)

Washington, March 20.—War in Europe, or else bigger and bigger armaments to scare off Hitler and draw Mussolini away from his ally, very much as the Italians threw into the discard the famous triple alliance which before 1914 joined them to Germany and the Austro-Hungarian empire—these are almost the only contingencies spoken of here as possible sequels to the seizure of Czechoslovakia and her gold. Is there another way?

There are other alternatives, which, but for the political influence of "isolationists" in the United States, would now be engaging the attention of the whole world. The trouble which Europe has faced since the ill-fated Versailles treaty has been to no small extent the outgrowth of the greed and selfishness of Great Britain and France in their absolute refusal to treat the German republic fairly and justly, loading impossible reparations on the backs of the German people and keeping the country in a state of economic subjection by exhausting demands for cash and raw materials as punitive payment for the war.

The colonies which were wrested from Germany in Africa and elsewhere were put by the Versailles treaty under "mandates" which were supposed to be a sort of trusteeship and were not to constitute a permanent annexation of territory to the countries appointed as trustees. Faced by economic strangulation and a debasement of their monetary system, the German people were persuaded to believe that, by abandoning their republic and accepting Nazism, they would be liberated from economic adversity. Today, they support the Nazi rulers because there is no certainty that the allied nations would treat them any more fairly now or after the next war than they did in 1919.

While nobody here condones for a moment the Nazi measures, it would be misrepresenting the state of opinion in Washington to say that our officials regard the allied policies of the last twenty years as truly contributory to a permanent peace. Recollection has not departed concerning the sad experience which President Wilson had in dealing with the allied statesmen at Paris when he attempted to secure acceptance of the famous "fourteen points" that he had assured the German people would be the basis of peace.

What is needed today is a second peace conference, to undo the wrongs imposed by the Versailles treaty and to assure economic stability for Europe by the removal of the trade barriers, without which action, as Mr. Wilson foresaw, there could be no lasting opportunity for the smaller countries to survive even though granted political independence.

The only instrumentally sufficient disinterested in the world which can act as mediator today and summon the nations to a second peace conference is the League of Nations.

Some means of manifesting plainly to the German people that the allies and the United States will truly assist in their liberation if they throw off the yoke of Nazism would seem to be the natural strategy of the democracies, even as they build up their military, naval and aerial armaments for the dreaded alternative. The world may look for a peace move of this kind just as soon as there is a realistic understanding of the basic causes that have led to the recent march of dictatorship in Europe.

Rehearsals for the coming minstrel and dance which will be given by the Craftsman's Club of Rondout Lodge are progressing rapidly under the able direction of Bill Smith who directed the very successful show held last year. New talent has been obtained both for the minstrel and the second part which will consist of five excellent acts. In fact this show promises to surpass that of last year.

A 145-year-old building at Washington, Ky., is said locally to have housed the first postoffice west of the Alleghenies.

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Characters

Assey Mayo, Cape Cod sleuth.
Madame Meaux, soprano friend of Slade's.

Yesterday: Mike Slade, artist, seems to be among the missing, but he leaves a note for Weston that he'll be back soon.

Chapter 13

Chat With A Soprano

AT DINNER, back at Aunt Sara's, Zeb announced his intention of working most of the night.

"Orders!" he said. "You never saw so many orders in your life. Matt's daff. Thought he had enough for this week, and we had to phone Boston fifty times. Matt's ordering carload lots now. And Baked Beans'll be up ten points by the end of the week. It's awfully funny. You say, what about a can of beans, and they say, why yes, they'll be nice to have in the house. It seems you don't ever buy baked beans to eat, you buy them to have in the house, like coal or flowers. I've sent father a wire. Something's radically wrong with his advertising. Say, Jane, you'll have to go with Assey tonight."

"I already asked her," Assey said. "Miss Randall's going proper with Jeff and Sara. Assey's in a blue and yellow draped box, but Jane and I, we're going to mingle with the hoi polloi and eat peanuts."

"I'm going to flirt with the trumpet," Jane said. "He asked me for a date, Monday, and when I asked him who he thought he was, he said he was the best solo singer in the business. It must mean something, he was quite proud of it. While I'm busy with him, Assey, you—"

"I'll be chattering with Madame Meaux. Hustle, Jane. I want to hear her render the opening number. Maybe she's better with lights and spangles than she was in the corridor the other day."

Madame Meaux was rendering "America, The Beautiful" when they reached the ball park, and Assey admitted that she was doing it rather well.

"Maybe so, but I never liked that song," Jane said. "It's so blatantly smug. As if no other country ever had spacious skies, or amber waves of grain, or purple mountain majesties, or anything. It doesn't seem to sound right here, either. There are spacious skies, but—"

"Well," Assey said, "you can sing 'Oh, beautiful for bay-bry bushes, for lots of lots of sand,' if you like. No one'll ever notice."

Jane laughed. "Now this one—what's this? People have been singing it at the drop of a hat for weeks, and I never yet have understood a word. I asked Mary—" she stopped and bit her lip. "Mary didn't know. She said she just hummed a sort of obligato."

"That," Assey said, "is Billingsgate's crowning opus. That is 'Billingsgate Beautiful.' The town and them, by the fine Italian hand of Bessie Brinley."

Jane shivered and gritted her teeth. "Wow! Why do they sing it? How can they? I mean, after all, you don't try to sing something like that from choice, or just to be nice to Mrs. Brinley."

"Well," Assey said, "in a celebration like this, you got to sing something for brotherhood and the like. Like, like, like—the 'Horst Wessel'."

"That name," Jane said, "always sounded to me as though it should be some sort of black sausage—well, that's over! Thank goodness! Assey, where are you—are you really going to talk with her? Well, can you tie that!"

A Bad Moment

MADAME MEAUX greeted Assey with a dazzling smile. In evening dress and with make-up, she was a far different woman from the hot perspiring bicyclist of the afternoon.

"Very nice," Assey said. "You had me hanging on the ropes."

"Sister Brinley," Madame Meaux told him, "wanted a soprano with volume, and she got one. I can make that trumpet sound sissier than a penny whistle. Say, have you seen Slade?"

"That's what I wanted to talk with you about—got a few minutes?"

"I've got an hour before I have to tear off Old Favorites, if that'll help."

"Fine," Assey said, "get your coat on, come along with Jane Warren and me."

"If you mean your girl friend, she's walked out on Joe and the local swell in that box. And you'd better know you're being watched, if that sort of thing matters to you."

"Half the fun of these things is the nice new gossip," Assey said. "Billingsgate'll remember for years how I upped an' made off with her soprano. Hop along."

He gave no indication of seeing either Aunt Sara's wink or Jane's annoyed stare as he escorted Madame Meaux to the roadster.

Once in the car, he had a bad moment. All he wanted was to ask questions about Slade, but he had forgotten that the eyes of Billingsgate were upon him.

Madame Meaux solved the problem. "What I'd like," she said, "is a couple of dogs with mustard, and a sundae with a lot of marshmallows. Sister B. has this feeling that sopranos don't eat."

"We'll remedy that," Assey said gratefully. "By the way, is—er—Mr. a—your real name?"

"My real name happens to be Emily Slade. And I know who you are, because I asked that guy at the garage."

"Relation to Mike?"

"His brother was my first husband. Died five years ago, and don't say you're sorry, because no one was. Charley Slade was a punk. Now," her manner changed. "He's got some food, and you tell me why the great detective wants to know about Mike. You do, don't you?"

"First we'll eat," Assey said, "and then we'll talk with him."

She ate her hot dogs and devoured two sundaes with a wholehearted abandon that charmed Assey.

"There," she pushed away the dish, "now what's the trouble?"

"As you," Assey asked, "enough of a menace in Slade's life for him to decamp at the sight of you?"

"She's Scared Stiff!"

"Well," Madame Meaux said thoughtfully, "he owes me around four hundred dollars, and he knows it, and I admit I had some hope of prying it out of him. That's all I can think of. He and I got along all right. Oh, it was true, what I told you about working on those projects. We did. But I didn't know who you were then, and it didn't seem necessary for me to tell you any more."

"Quite right. So he owed you money. That may be why he's vanished, leavin' what seems to be a genuine note sayin' he'll be back next week. But we kind of wondered."

"Must be. But don't let that give you any more ideas about Mike. He's a right enough sort. My money's safe with him. Say, he hasn't done anything, has he?"

"Not that I know of," Assey said. "But—say, it's time I got you back. Only—if you see him, or he gets any message to you, will you let me know?"

"Sure." They got up from the table. "I don't understand—him. Him what?" Assey inquired as they got into the roadster.

"Your specialty is murders, isn't it? And the town's making money—no, don't say anything. I shan't. Maybe I'll pick you up something. You hear a lot in a town like this, in a place like mine. Singers and manicurists, they hear everything."

"How," Assey had no fear of telling her anything, even if she guessed the whole business, how'll you know what to listen to?"

"I shall probably hear enough about you," she said, "to last a lifetime. Drop me here, will you? Thanks. I got to see Upjohn. Sorry I can't ask you if there's any number you want. Upjohn and Brinley planned everything—and you'll hear me sparring over 'Chloe' with that trumpet, clear in the next town. So long!"

Assey left her at the rear of the hand stand, and then went to join Aunt Sara and Jeff.

"Jane is pretty sure," Sara told him. "She's not accustomed to being left for blondes—Is she as much fun as she looks, by the way?"

I thought so. Women like that either have a sense of humor, or they don't. No two ways about it. Anyway, Jane's a little dazed, and I'm sure it's doing her a world of good. Jane is just a little too engrossed in Jane, I think."

"It's all her fault for not believing what she's told," Assey said. "Where'd she go?"

"She's dancing with the Mitchell boy. Eloise is helping with refreshments. We get 'em free. Ah, the graft us politicians' wives do get!"

"It's something fierce," Assey said. "Canned fruit punch and two fig newtons. What about Jane, Sara?"

"Go catch with her. She's got a heart of gold, but—"

"But gold is metal," Assey said. "Soft, but still metal."

"She has that manner, but it's indigenous to her particular generation. I think she'd be first to cry at the sight of a run-over dog. And right now she's scared stiff. Go easy with her, Assey. Don't fuss, and don't bully. You'll find out in time what you want. She's awfully scared, at a awfully mixed up, and she wants to lie down and cry. I think there's something more than Mary that's bothering her, too, even though she adored Mary. And you'll find—hullo, Jane. The prodigal's returned."

"Thanks he's going to be welcomed back into the bosom of our select group, does he, after gallivanting—"

"I guess I know," Assey said. "When I'm not wanted. Yes, sure. One-Hint Mayo, that's what they call me. I'm going over to the Town Hall an' look around, an' leave you dance-mad things to your fate. See you later."

Continued tomorrow.

The Model Husband

They say that women live of men who come too near perfection. The modern male must have his faults if he would pass inspection.

But you need have no worries, dear, you'll surely stand the test. You scatter ashes on the rug, you spill things on your vest.

You're always late to meals, and then you hide behind the news. My nicest guest towel you devote to polishing your shoes.

You leave a ring around the tub, you yodel while you shave. The way you throw your clothes about would make an angel rave.

But, shame as it may seem my dear, I'd stand for no correction. To me you always have been tops in husbandly perfection.

Teacher—Surely, you know what the word "murder" means, Junior. After you've washed what do you look at to see if your face is clean?

Junior—The towel, Miss.

Jasper—Spouter says all the proposed ways to increase the purchasing power of the masses are so much foolishness.

Casper—Is he an authority on purchasing power?

Jasper—No, but he is an authority on foolishness.

Only One of her Thophecies Have Failed of Fruition

One of the strangest list of prophecies of all times is that of Mother Shipton, first published in England in 1485, before America was discovered and, of course, before the discoveries and inventions forecast there. Everything she predicted has come true except the last two lines. Read the ancient prophecies and remember the date of their making:

Carriages without horses shall go. And accidents fill the world with woe.

Around the world thoughts shall fly. In the twinkling of an eye.

Waters shall yet more wonders do. Now strange, yet shall be true.

The world upside down shall be. And gold be found at root of tree.

Through hills men shall not go. And no horse or ass be at his side.

Under water men shall walk. Shall side, shall sleep, shall talk.

In the air men shall be seen. In white, in black, in green.

Iron in the water shall float. As easy as a wooden boat.

Gold shall be found in mid stone. In land that's now unknown.

Fire and water shall wonders do. England shall at last admit the Jew.

And this world to an end shall come. In eighteen hundred and eighty one.

Smiths of Georgia Weary

Of Name After 100 Years
ATLANTA.—The Georgia senate approved a bill to change the name of the Smith boys to MacNabb, and thereby hangs a tale.

It seems that 100 years ago the Smith's progenitor, a hardy Scotsman named MacNabb, eloped to America with an Irish lass. The girl's father followed the couple, intent on breaking up the marriage.

The newlyweds, advised of the irate father's approach, changed their name to Smith and moved to the Carolinas.

Smiths remained the family name until the present generation, represented by Malcolm Smith, news editor of the Newnan Herald, and Herbert Watson Smith, steel company employee in Newnan, decided the opposition had died down. They acted through the legislature to revive the Clan MacNabb.

Landers-Daves Rites Performed Sunday

In a special rainbow wedding setting, Miss Emily Landers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Landers of 81 Lincoln street, became the bride Sunday afternoon of Gilbert Daves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Daves of Albany avenue. The ceremony was performed at 4:30 in the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church with the pastor, the Rev. William R. Peckham, officiating.

During the ceremony Frederick Richens, organist, played suitable numbers and accompanied the social solos. Mrs. Henry Miller, sister of the bride sang "I Love You Truly" and Mrs. Raymond Taylor, sister of the groom sang, "Oh Promise Me."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a princess style wedding gown of white slipper satin, with train. Her veil of lace trimmed with pearls and extended over the train of the dress. She carried an arm bouquet of call lilies.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Roy Welles as matron of honor, Miss Adele Biber as bridesmaid and Shirley Welles and Carol Taylor as flower girls. Roy Welles acted as best man for Mr. Daves. Ushers were Henry Miller and Edward Daves, Jr.

Mrs. Welles wore a gown of aqua blue tulle, princess style and a hat of old rose net with matching small veil. She carried a nosegay of sea roses. Miss Biber wore a gown of pale pink embroidered chiton with a hat of pale pink similar to that of the matron of honor. She carried a nosegay of pink roses.

The two little flower girls were attired in Kate Greenaway costumes; Carol Taylor wearing yellow organza trimmed with orchid and Shirley Welles wearing orchid organza trimmed with yellow. Both wore hats to match the gowns and carried nosegays of sea roses.

Following the wedding a reception for members of the immediate families was held at the home of the bride's parents. Following a short wedding trip to New York city, Mr. and Mrs. Daves will reside for a short time at the bride's former home.

For her traveling outfit Mrs. Daves wore a suit of powder blue with rust colored accessories.

MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9009

This is for young Miss "Sevs-Her-Own," whose exquisite frocks never fail to delight her beaux! Pattern 9009 brings Marian Martin's latest ideas for TWO charming yet easily-made dresses... a street-length afternoon number, and a party-length gown to wear to dress-up dances, graduation and like events. First, note the up-and-down shirring of the bodice panel below the sweetheart neck. What could be more feminine than this "dress-maker" touch, which is featured, too, at the scalloped sleeves?—and it's so easy to do! (A special thread that shirrs as it stitches is ideal for this detail.) The pointed corselet-band makes a slim waist look still slimmer—while the skirt has a vivacious flare!

Pattern 9009 may be ordered only in misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 requires 3½ yards of fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coin for this MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

Home Service FOR a Lovely Garden Plant and Prune Now

New Booklet Aid to Gardeners

What a lovely setting for your home! Beneath your windows—dwarf rose bushes such as the everblooming hybrid tea. At corners and entrance—the tall flowering shrub, buddleia.

To get best results from roses choose plants propagated by budding. Set in the ground as our diagram shows—placing the little shoulder (A) two inches below the surface.

Spring's a good season for planting roses—and the best time for the all-important pruning for "quality" blooms. Cut young bushes to point B in the diagram, leaving outside buds so bush will branch outward. Older plants you prune to point C.

For shrubs too, pruning is vital. Buddleia will produce gorgeous blossoms for you in summer if you cut the bush close to the ground in spring.

Clever when setting out shrubs to avoid planting too close together. Until the shrubs grow up, fill scanty spots with perennials.

Practical helpful information on gardening is given in our new 32-page booklet, HOW TO PLANT AND CARE FOR YOUR GARDEN. By H. E. Downer, horticulturist of Vassar College, it tells how to grow annuals, perennials, shrubs, vines, bulbs, roses. Directions for lawns, trees, preparing soil. How to conquer pests, diseases.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of HOW TO PLANT AND CARE FOR YOUR GARDEN to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Good Rating Here In Diphtheria Immunization

Albany, March 19—(Special).—The city of Kingston has been listed by State Health Commissioner Dr. Edward S. Godfrey, Jr., as one of the communities of the state rated above the minimum standard fixed by the department for immunization of children under five years of age against diphtheria.

Dr. Godfrey also reports that there are at least 17 communities in upstate New York that will have to increase their number of diphtheria immunizations of children "if they are to feel reasonably secure from an outbreak of this disease."

"Health authorities say," Dr. Godfrey continued, "any community may feel reasonably secure from an outbreak of diphtheria only when 35 per cent or more of children under five years of age have been immunized."

He added, however, that while this will protect a community, nothing will protect the individual child except actual immunization treatment, and he warned against a feeling of false security on the part of parents in a community with a high percentage of immunization, but whose own children have not been given the protective treatment.

The annual cost of city government in Chicago is $149,981,900.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties. BUT if you are earnest, listless and tired; men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls. When they go to parties they want girls who are full of pep.

So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for a generations one woman has told another how to get "rambling pep" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and lessens distress from female functional disorders.

You'll find Pinkham's Compound WELL WORTH TRYING!

Blood Extract Halts Bleeding

Will Assist Surgeons in Operations; Acts as Freezing Agent.

NEW YORK.—Bleeding during surgical operations and after accidents can now be stopped almost instantaneously with an extract from beef blood sprayed on a wound with a perfume atomizer.

Four University of Iowa scientists announced in "Science," published by the American Association for the Advancement of Science, that they had purified thrombin, the element in blood which makes it clot, and had used it successfully in halting profuse bleeding within two to ten seconds.

Operations frequently are hampered by interference of blood in an incision, Dr. W. H. Seegers, Dr. E. D. Warner, Dr. K. M. Brinkhaus and Dr. H. P. Smith declared, particularly in operations on the brain and liver.

Acts as Freezing Agent.

In the future, however, an atomizer filled with thrombin probably will be one of the principal parts of a surgeon's equipment, since the chemical stops bleeding from the small blood vessels which cannot be closed in any other way.

Thrombin acts as a freezing agent to form a thin film of clotted blood over any area which begins to bleed profusely. It always is present in the blood as a slightly different substance called prothrombin which is converted to thrombin when exposed to air.

However, in some individuals it is not present in sufficient amounts, or is not converted quickly enough. As a result they bleed profusely and during a surgical operation their condition may become critical unless a blood transfusion is given immediately. Use of thrombin, obtained from the blood of cattle at slaughter houses, may make many transfusions unnecessary.

Pneumonia Cure.

Recently Dr. Clyde Brooks of Louisiana State university declared he had gone to the same source, had obtained from ox blood a substance known as "deturo-protease," and had found it successful in the treatment of some types of pneumonia.

Thrombin also has been found effective in checking the bleeding of hemophilia, the disease which causes a person to bleed almost continuously from even a small cut or bruise.

It is also expected to be a vital aid to bone surgeons who heretofore have not been able to stop bleeding from the small blood vessels within the bone marrow except with bone wax, a substance foreign to the body which sometimes interferes with bone healing, Dr. Seegers said.

SUSPECT AND GIRL FRIEND

A nationwide search for John Henry Howland, 25, (left) charged with the slaying of Miss Maude Horne, 62, in her Milton, N. H., cottage February 2, ended in Corpus Christi, Texas, where Howland was arrested. With him was a 15-year-old girl (right) who told officers her name was Mary Butler, but who faced arraignment as Aida Elizabeth Butler. A New Hampshire warrant charged her with unlawful flight to avoid testifying in a felony case.

PORT EWEN NEWS

Rev. J. D. Muyskens Speaks at Church

Port Ewen, March 20.—The Rev. John D. Muyskens, missionary of the Reformed Church, who is now on furlough, told of his work in India at a service in the local Reformed Church, sponsored by the Dorcas Society, which was started 25 years ago by Mrs. Muyskens, an aunt of the speaker.

Mrs. Frank White, president of the society, presided and led in the responsive reading. Mrs. C. H. Polhemus read the scripture and Mrs. George Berens, led in prayer. The ushers were Mrs. Lester Ferguson, Mrs. David Harris, Mrs. Lillian Walker and Mrs. Pearl Hansen.

The Rev. Mr. Muyskens spoke also at the Ulster Park Church, at the Church of the Comforter in Kingston at the morning service there and at the Reformed Church in St. Remy in the afternoon. The Missionary Society of the local church served a supper in honor of the Rev. Mr. Muyskens Saturday evening. A number of ministers and their wives from churches of this vicinity were among the 50 present.

The Rev. Mr. Muyskens was a guest of the Rev. and Mrs. George Berens, pastor of the local Reformed Church, during his stay here. The missionary spoke informally of his work following the supper.

Californian Assembles

Radio on a Common Pin

SAN DIEGO, CALIF.—Albert L. Marquess, San Diego's most amazing radio fan, has just completed assembling another radio—this one on a common pin.

Another of his sets is in the end of a lead pencil where an eraser is generally imbedded and still another constructed in a novelty banjo about two inches long.

The radios are, of course, crystal sets. Marquess mounts the little crystal detectors for rectifying the radio currents upon the smallest possible objects, then attaches tiny connections for ear phones, ground and aerial, omitting tuning coils.

Marquess began the hobby several years ago while living in Arizona. Incidentally, his reception from two local stations and two near-by stations in Mexico is quite all right, thank you.

175,369 Taxing Units

Operating in Country

CHICAGO.—There are practically as many taxing agencies in the United States as the nation's total of doctors, hospitals and public libraries combined, a National Consumers Tax commission survey shows.

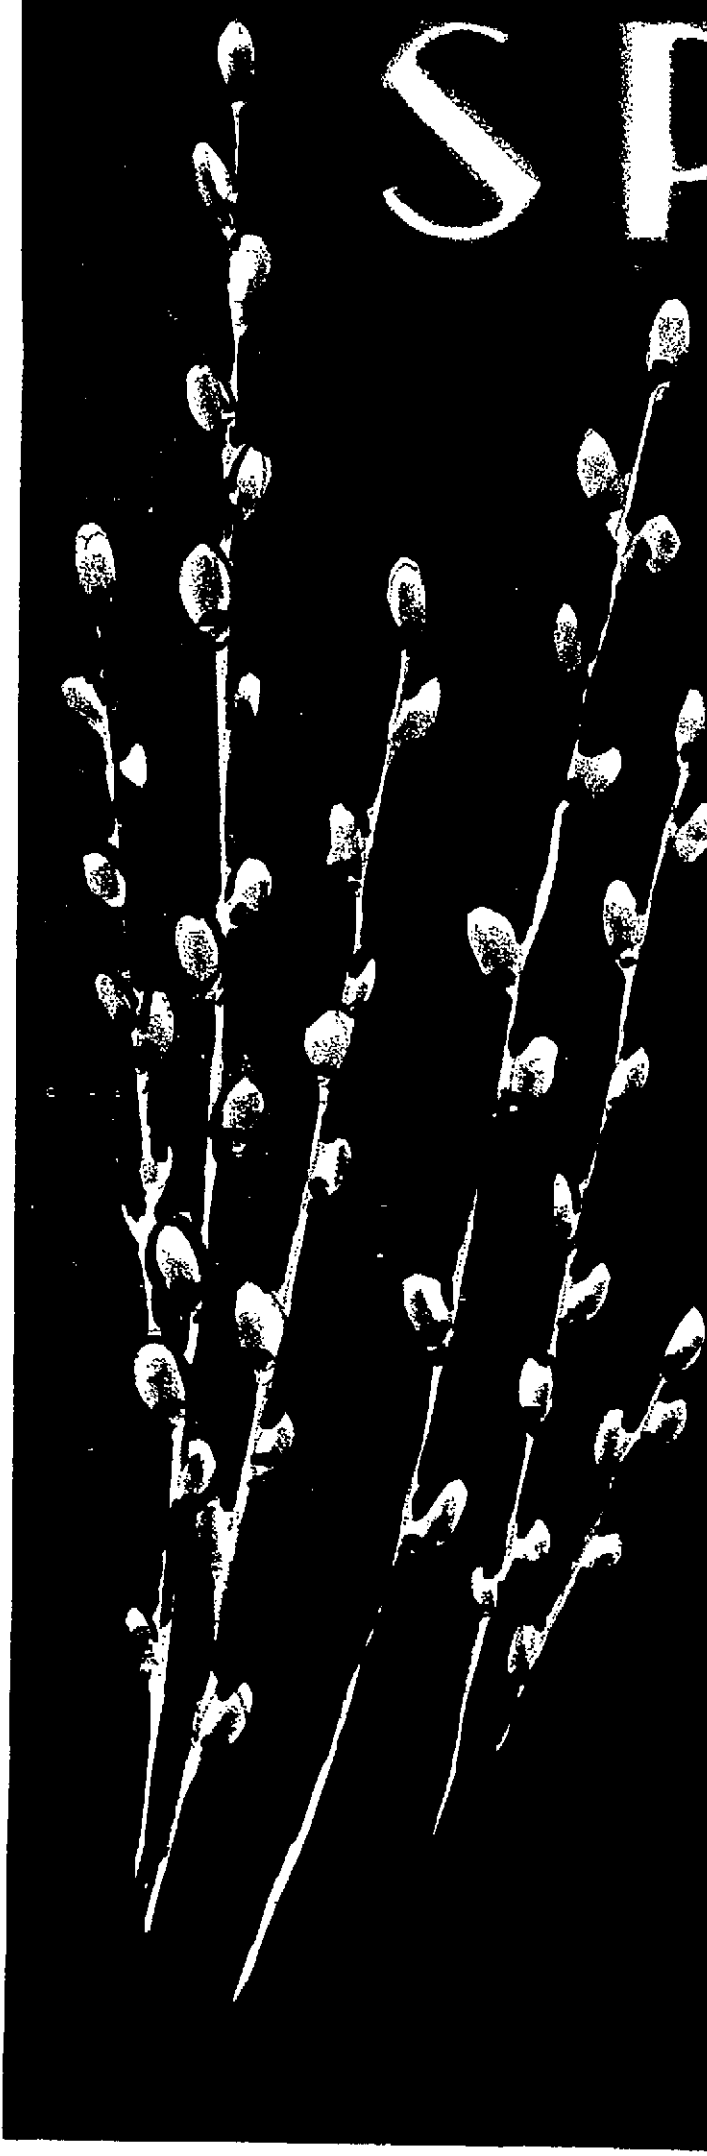

In a study of modern-day taxation, the commission—a women's organization crusading against "taxes that penalize the consumer"—declared that there are 175,369 agencies in the country with the power to levy and collect revenues for local, state and national governments.

The organization's survey showed that the nation's hospitals total $160, its libraries 6,235, and its physicians 165,163, for a combined total of 177,587.

Origin of the Dollar Sign

In the Numismatist a well-known coin collector has the following to say about the origin of our dollar sign: "What would be more natural than to express Spanish dollars by the letter 'S' through which was struck a vertical line similar to the horizontal line through the letter 'L' which for so many years they had used to denote pounds sterling? This practice maintained until 1792, when the United States adopted the decimal fractionation of the dollar. The extra vertical was then added to differentiate between Spanish dollars and United States dollars."

Canada Now Ships Grain to West Ports

Reasons Given for Shift Many and Varied.

WINNIPEG.—A survey of figures characteristic of this year's routing of western Canadian grain crops reveals that the Port of St. John, New Brunswick, and to a lesser extent Fort William have been the chief sufferers in this year's vastly increased movement of overseas grain through West Coast ports—Vancouver and New Westminster.

Reasons advanced for the flow of grain to the West are many and varied. Grain experts point out that high rail rates to junfren ports in the East close late movements as before. Other factors, however, such as an increased market in the Orient and more favorably located stores—in regard to this winter's market—have netted the western ports a vast increase in grain trade.

Although experts are careful to point out that comparative shipping figures between this winter and last do not give the full picture of the change in routing of grain, they nevertheless are clear indications of the trend.

The main argument against comparative figures between the last two western Canadian crops is that the 1938-39 yield was a normal crop, whereas the 1937-38 crop was not. However, figures released by the board of grain commissioners at Winnipeg give at least a partial indication of why eastern shippers are becoming alarmed by the trend.

Officials point out that re-routing of the 1938-39 bumper crop to the West coast caused shipments to St. John to drop more than 400,000 bushels during one week in January, compared to the corresponding period last year. Other eastern Canadian ports, however, such as Montreal, Sorel, Three Rivers, maintained shipments considerably above identical periods in 1937-38.

Grain figures taken over a longer period serve to emphasize the steady drop of shipments cleared through St. John, and the corresponding increase at West coast ports.

Diminutive Lizard Fatal

To Black Widow Spider

SAN DIEGO.—In the San Diego alligator lizard, harmless but ferocious-looking reptile, zoologists of the University of California at last believe they have found a means of exterminating the dreaded black widow spider whose bite results in illness and sometimes death.

The diminutive lizard, which rarely attains a size in excess of 10 inches, is a deadly enemy of the black widow and has a big appetite for the poisonous spider and its eggs.

Experiments conducted by Raymond B. Cowles, University of California zoologist, indicate that introduction of the tiny lizards in numbers would be a means of controlling the menace of the black widow.

Cowles said the lizards had been turned loose in areas affected with the hour-glass spiders and that in a short time the poisonous insects disappeared.

Lacy Iron-Work Used on

Older Homes in Richmond

In 1855 an enterprising Yankee steammaker in Richmond began to make in his foundry some ornamental iron work, writes Margaret Leonard in the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

That was the beginning of an industry and an architectural vogue which so flourished in the eighties that its marks are all over the city—in lacy, black railings, verandas, balconies, fences and cornices that adorn hundreds of houses—from tumble-down Negro shacks in once-fashionable sections to old residences that hold their own in good neighborhoods.

Some of the loveliest and laciest and most lavish of the ornamental iron work is on the ugliest and shabbiest houses. A lot of it is on old places somewhat fallen from high estates, but still cherished for former grandeur and tradition. And Richmond seems to have become conscious of the charm of ornamental iron designs on facades of houses.

The history of ornamental iron work in Richmond, and most places, is practically nothing. For some reason, this phase of cultural and architectural development has escaped the notice of the social and realistic historians hereabouts.

Safety Razor Opposed

By Calcutta Barbers

CALCUTTA.—Barbers of India have organized a nation-wide campaign against the safety razor, which they say is ruining their business. Barbers of Calcutta recently held a parade carrying banners with anti-safety razor slogans. Six hundred then held a conference to outline a campaign to recapture their vanishing trade. A national movement to boycott foreign safety razors and to boost barbers' services was started.

HIGHLAND

Highland, March 18.—John Salvatore, a student at Mt. Hermon, reached home Wednesday evening for the spring vacation with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Victor Salvatore, attending the Mt. Hermon Hudson Valley Association banquet Thursday evening at Hotel Campbell in Poughkeepsie. Milo F. Winchester, former head of the agricultural department in the local high school is president of the Mt. Hermon Association.

The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Anton Sohrweide, born February 23 in the Found Park Hospital, St. Petersburg, Fla., has been named Elizabeth Lee. This was the name of the baby's great-grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dowd, Mrs. Fred Schmidt, Sr. and Mrs. Charles Schmidt attended the funeral services for the late James Conklin in Milton Thursday morning.

Victor P. Salvatore, Jr., reached home Friday from Troy where he is a junior in R.P.I. He will be home during the spring vacation. The Tuesday evening bridge and supper club meet Tuesday evening with Mrs. George Rusk in Marlborough. The previous meeting was with Mrs. Harold A. Lent in New Paltz with Mrs. Norman Baker as substitute player.

A speaking contest for the junior members and friends of Highland Grange is held Tuesday evening, and the refreshment committee consists of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jeffry, Mr. and Mrs. C. Dohrman, Miss Anna Hyatt and John O'Hara.

Miss Frances Fagan spent the past week-end in New York with her sister.

Owing to the small number of trustees and members of the library association present the annual meeting was postponed until Tuesday evening.

Miss June Schantz has been ill this week.

At an early meeting of Ida McKinley Council 85, Daughters of America, held Wednesday evening, Councilor Mrs. Cora Parks presided. Substitute officers were Mrs. Bertha Freer, Mrs. Minnie Terpening, Mrs. Edna Tompkins and Mrs. Gwendolyn Callahan. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Appreciation for sympathy was received from Edwin Clark and family. Reservations for the banquet preceding the district meeting, April 11, to be held at the Baptist Church, Albany avenue, should be sent to the councilor to be turned in by April 8.

Mrs. Grace Graham was reported ill but improving. It was voted to acknowledge the use of the card tables for the evening to Vineyard Rebekah Lodge. Mrs. Elsa Swift was appointed in charge of entertainment for the meeting, April 5.

There were sixty persons who attended the card party which followed the meeting. Mrs. Edna Tompkins and Mrs. Mabel Yaeger were the chairmen. Cotant, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Decker, Mrs. Gertrude Cummings, Mrs. Mary Brown, Mrs. Suzanne Decker, Harry Cotant.

Final plans for the district meeting will be made at the next meeting. Mrs. Louise Sheeley has charge of entertainment from the local council.

The members of History A Class who made the trip to New York on Saturday were: William Collins, Jean Conforti, Amelia Di Lorenzo, Leora Ellis, Patsey Faranti, Michael Florio, Mary Gaffney, George Hoff, Richard Hulise.

COUGHS DUE TO COLDS

To quickly relieve distress—rub soothing, warming Musterole on your chest, throat and back.

Musterole is NOT "just a salve." It's a "counter-irritant" containing good old-fashioned remedies for distress of colds: oil of mustard, menthol, camphor and other helpful ingredients.

That's why it gets such fine results—better than the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Musterole penetrates the surface skin, stimulates, warms and soothes and quickly helps to relieve local congestion and pain. Used by millions for 30 years. Recommended by many doctors, and nurses. In 2 strengths: Regular, Children's (Mild) and Extra Strong, 40%.

Eugene Imperato, Mary Johnston, Susie Lisco, Patrick Lockhart, Dorine Mackay, Richard McCarthy, Angelina Montrolla, Mary Palizzo, Thomas Puleo, Louis Smith, Mary Sporo, Elaine Strongman, Florence Trepiani, Louis Palmer, Arthur Rhodes, Dominick Trapani. The students were accompanied by their instructor, Miss Lois Welker also.

Arthur Poelma. Members of the Queen Esther Club meeting Wednesday with Mrs. Clarence W. Rathgeb made pads for use by the public health nurse. They also do sunshine work for shut-ins and sick. Mrs. W. H. Maynard presided at the business meeting and provided the entertainment. Present were: Mrs. Maynard, Mrs. Willard Burke,

Mrs. Victor Salvatore, Mrs. Ralph Lyons, Mrs. Alfred Coutant, Misses Hattie and Edith Dickinson, Rose Symes, Mattie Schantz, Mrs. Ethel Bradshaw, Mrs. Lloyd Plasse, Mrs. Decker, Mrs. Fred Snider, Mrs. William Russell, Mrs. W. D. Corwin, Mrs. Herbert Campbell, Mrs. Charles DuBois, and Mrs. Rathgeb who served refreshments at the close of the evening.

The meeting on March 29 will be with Mrs. Victor Salvatore and the entertainment arranged by Mrs. Harold A. Lent. The Evening Reading Circle meets Monday evening with Mrs. C. W. Rathgeb who is assisted by Mrs. Bertram Cottine. Herbert Boden and a friend will be week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Salomon.

The 76th birthday of Myron Terpening was celebrated Thursday evening by a family supper party at the home on Grand street. Gathered there besides Mr. and Mrs. Terpening were: Mr. and Mrs. Jere Miller of Poughkeepsie,

Mr. and Mrs. John Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Scanlan, and daughter, Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Terpening, Mrs. Theodore Hudson, Mrs. Hilda Alsdorf, and daughter, Hilda, and Clifford Terpening.

Rosendale Firemen Close With 40-27 Win Over Ridgers

St. Louis Browns Setting the Pace

By JUDSON BAILEY

New York, March 20 (AP)—It's the same old grapefruit league they have down in the citrus belt, folks.

You can tell by the fact that the St. Louis Browns, last year's champions, are setting the pace. After the 16 major league clubs have played 56 exhibition games the Browns are on top with six victories and no defeats.

There are three other undefeated clubs—New York Giants with five victories, the Chicago Cubs with three and the Washington Senators with two. Fred Haney, the new manager of the St. Louis American League, wasn't interested in getting such a fast start because he sensed an ominous connection between the Browns finishing first in the 1938 grapefruit grind and seventh in the American League. But playing the Philadelphia Phils every day, he has had no choice and is resigned to wishing he could keep on playing them all summer.

Yanks Win Four
The New York Yanks have won four and lost four. The Giants, who were bartering for power during the winter, have scored 33 runs in their five games and Manager Bill Terry is so wreathed in smiles the baseball writers hardly recognize him.

The first 10 days of the exhibition season produced some showy baseball, including a half dozen extra-inning sessions, five shutouts and one no-hit extravaganza. The no-hit job was the contribution of Whitey Moore and Rookie Gene Thompson of the Cincinnati Reds, who go in for that sort of thing (Johnny Vander Meer was in bed ill and wouldn't handle the chore). The Brooklyn Dodgers, always clumsy, nearly messed up the script when Pete Coscarart doubled, but he forgot to touch first and everything was all right.

Wallkill Edges Out Cleaners 37-34

Wallkill Prison team of the Wallkill Valley League nosed out the Boston Cleaners, first half champions of the city league, 37-34, in a thrilling contest Sunday night. Leading most of the way the Cleaners experienced an "off" fourth quarter and lost the verdict by three points.

Rogers was high with 15 points for Wallkill. Chase and Bartoff had 12 and 10 for the Cleaners. Both teams made 16 fields and each had five free throws. Wallkill making all of them, the Cleaners making only two, which lost the game for them.

St. Mary's and Redeemers Play Crucial Church League Game

Tonight's game between Redeemer and St. Mary's in the Church Basketball League at the Y. M. C. A. may easily be the deciding battle of the second half. With St. Mary's leading the league with four wins and no losses and Redeemers having lost only one to Clinton Avenue, this should be one of the best games of the season.

On paper Redeemer seems to have the edge over St. Mary's with the Book brothers, Tommy Maines, Pete and Al Bruce. But the church league has always been known for its many upsets and this game may be one of them. St. Mary's have Tommy Madden, Jim Albany, Babe Coughlin and Knute Beichert. These cagers have proven before that

The Rosendale Firemen closed their season on Saturday night at Firemen's Hall with a decisive victory over the Stone Ridge Grangers. The hose handlers were hard pressed in the first three quarters of the game but opened the last quarter with a barrage of baskets to win by the score of 40-27.

Johnny Connell, playing his third game with the Firemen, pumped in six fields and a foul for a total of 13 points, besides playing an excellent floor game. Gil Kelder found the hoop for 11 markers. Chapple Cooper did the best shooting for the Grangers with 13 points.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

(By The Associated Press)
St. Petersburg, Fla.—Everybody is trying hard not to worry about that old "Iron Man" Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankees. But the truth is Lou has looked mighty rusty this spring. He was the third out with men on base three times yesterday but Dickey and Joe DiMaggio helped the champions club out a 12-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Baton Rouge, La.—While the New York Giants are taking matters easy today, Manager Bill Terry lured the Louisiana State University varsity by agreeing to organize a team of such venerables as Hemic Groh, Travis Jackson, Hank Deberry, Frank Snyder and other Giant attaches for a practice game. Since Coach Harry Rabenhorst of the Bayou Tigers plans to use about 30 collegeans, and the game may go on and on, the old-timers probably don't know what they let themselves in for.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—The work of paring down the unwieldy St. Louis Cardinal roster was underway today. The first shipment to the farms took young Dick Sisler, Pitchers Preacher Roe and John Wahonic, and Catcher Floyd Beld to Rochester's camp at Winter Garden, Fla.

Clearwater, Fla.—The Brooklyn Dodgers have given up (at least publicly) hopes for obtaining Joe Medwick for their outfield. But they have the holdout St. Louis star for spectator and no strings attached. He's seen every game Brooklyn has played so far. He was a neutral observer today, though, for the Dodgers battled the Cards.

New Orleans, La.—Manager Oscar Vitt of the Cleveland Indians isn't thinking so much about the golfing that Lyn Lary is doing these days. While the hold-out shortstop is marking time on the links at Biloxi, Miss., frail Jimmy Webb is making a spot for himself in the infield. Considered a good fielder but weak hitter, Webb hit a home run and two singles yesterday.

New Coach

Aldo T. "Buff" Donelli, (above) former assistant football coach at Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, has been appointed head coach to replace John (Little Clipper) Smith, March 16. Smith, whose contract had a year to run, said he might quit the coaching profession.

Tony Galento Is Rated No. 1 Again

Washington, March 20 (AP)—The National Boxing Association again has named Tony Galento the No. 1 challenger to the heavyweight boxing title.

The association's rating committee filed a notation, however, saying it neither sponsored Galento nor conceded him much chance of toppling Joe Louis' title crown. Committeeman Joe Triner of Illinois voted to leave the No. 1 position vacant.

Bob Pastor, suspended by the committee at its last quarterly sitting, was rated No. 2 contender when the officials learned the New Jersey Boxing Commission had restored him to good standing. Others in the first ten heavyweights, in order of their ranking, were Lou Nova, Max Baer, Red Burman, Maurice Strickland, Nathan Mann, Roscoe Toles, Johnny Paycheck and Tony Musto.

Naccarato and Tellier Victors

Yesterday's two matches in the city pocket billiard tournament ran true to form with Julius Tellier defeating Mike Carpino and John Naccarato handing Frank Schilling another setback.

The Tellier-Carpino match in the afternoon showed the old maestro winning by the close score of 100 to 93 after several easy misses nearly put him in a hole. Carpino had the high run of 21 while Tellier collected one less for his best string.

In the evening engagement, Naccarato had a high of 23 and was never in danger winning 100 to 69 to keep Schilling's win column in tournament standings filled with zeros.

Tonight John Naccarato shows again, this time against Eddie Benoit.

Sedranis Even Series in Jersey; Next Game There

Kaplan Leads Kingston as Team Takes Early Lead; Colonials May Play Exhibition Wednesday

The Kingston Colonials tied up their series with the Jersey Reds Sunday by winning from Muggs Miller's cagers, 29-25, and the New York Jewels knocked off the Philadelphia Hebraws twice over the week-end 46-44 and 31-24 to definitely smash their way into the final playoff for the American League president's cup.

Now, it'll be the Jewels against the winners of the Colonial-Jersey Red feud, and, according to the experts the New Yorkers in all probability will have to face Barney Sedran's quintet, regardless of its inferiority here at the auditorium last Wednesday.

Yesterday at Columbia Park, Union City, the Colonials applied the pressure from the start and took a 10-4 lead over the home club. The Sedran's tossers continued in the van and once were out in front 1

STRATOLINER CRASH IN WHICH 10 DIED

Sunlight slanting through a forest near Alder, Wash., strikes the wreckage of a $500,000 "Stratoliner" which crashed during a test flight, killing at least 10 persons aboard. A small crowd of spectators surrounds the plane, which was designed to fly through the stratosphere. Among the dead were two members of a Dutch air mission, Peter Guilonard and A. G. von Baumhauer. Another victim was Captain Harlan Hull, chief test pilot for Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc. The pilot of the plane, also killed, was Julius Barr, test pilot for the Boeing Airplane Company, builders of the "Stratoliner." Barr was formerly personal pilot for Madame Chiang Kai-Shek.

Legion to Hold Birthday Party Tonight at 8:30

The second annual birthday party of Kingston Post, American Legion, planned for this evening, is expected to be a gala affair. The event in celebration of the 20th anniversary of the founding of the Legion and the 19th anniversary of the founding of Kingston Post is to be held in the spacious ballroom of Spinn's in Port Jervis, and the committee in charge of the arrangements will have everything in readiness to welcome the Legionnaires, their wives and friends.

Assembly will take place at 8:30 p. m., with music for dancing furnished by the WOR radio band, under the direction of Harry Scharf. At 9:30 o'clock the national anthem will be sung by Miss Patricia Leeds. Commander Joseph E. Sills will welcome the guests and the introduction of Joseph J. Buckard, a distinguished Legionnaire from New York, will be given. Mr. Buckard is a past commander of the important New York organization of the Legion and is also president of the Metropolitan Patrolman's Benevolent Association.

The birthday cake ceremony, participated in by the past commanders of the Post and past presidents of the Ladies' Auxiliary, is next on the program, after which dancing will continue until 10:30 o'clock.

A floor show, featuring several artists from the Artists Bureau of WOR, will take place at that time. Miss Eleanor Sherry, who is termed "The Dumbest Miss of the Mike," headlines the show. Miss Patricia Leeds, an accomplished accordionist, is also on the bill with two other acts of high calibre. Entertainment Chairman William T. Roedel has booked the show and promises the guests some great entertainment.

After the floor show, dancing and a typical session of Legion fun and frolic is on the program. The spacious ball room of Spinn's, which the Legionnaires are "taking over" for their celebration is being decorated today and will present an unusually attractive sight this evening.

Heads Committee for Apple Blossom Sunday

Scout Executive R. Gardiner Burns has been named chairman of the Rural Life Sunday committee for the second annual Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival. Mr. Burns will have charge of arrangements for special programs in churches throughout the county on Rural Life Sunday which falls on May 7.

In announcing the appointment,

Annual Party for St. Ann's Parish

This is the night for the annual celebration of St. Ann's parish of Sawkill and Ruby, an event which always brings out the parishioners and their friends in a full evening of merry-making, and nets Father James Hughes a nice sum to help defray the expenses of his two little churches.

Huling's Barn is the place for the party tonight and an elaborate program has been arranged for presentation there in conjunction with dancing to the music of Larry LaRochelle's orchestra and the strains of the Hayride Melody Four, Sawkill's own ensemble that plays for old-fashioned dances.

William A. Fitzpatrick, proprietor of The Barn, who was a member of Father Hughes' boys club in New York some years back, has announced the program arranged by the committee for St. Ann's as follows:

Master of ceremonies, Frankie "Melody Man" Manion of New York; Jingles and Fitzgiles; the interbugs of swing; Joseph Germond, Poughkeepsie's "Bing Crosby"; Charley Harris in a novelty skit and William Raible, Kingston soloist.

of Mr. Burns this morning, Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Apple Blossom Committee, said that the committee was now at work and the selection of chairman for other important sub-committees and that names would be announced shortly.
